CAMPANA'S SINKING TO DOUBLE SHELLS OF MERCHANT SHIPS

Ammunition supplies on all merchant ships will be doubled as a result of the Campana sinking. Secretary of Navy Daniels said today.

The Campana, sunk after a game running fight with a German U-boat, surrendered only after her 180 rounds of ammunition had been exhausted. All ships in the future will carry 360 rounds, if they can take care of that much.

Perscope Only Target.

Failure of the gun crew to sink the attacking submarine was attributed to the fact that the submarine, a speedier craft, had an immense target to shoot at while the navy gunners aboard the slow-going tanker had practically nothing but a perscope to aim at.

All gunners on all merchantmen, Daniels said, are expert "spotters" able to fire rapidly at extremely small objects. Though most of the navy crews have the advantage of range finders, Daniels admitted, it may be impossible to obtain range finders for all of these ships.

Doubt Third Officer's Tale.

Daniels and Admiral Benson, chief of operations, doubt the story of the Campana's third officer, J. H. Bruce, that the submarine which sank the Campana was in turn sunk by a French cruiser. No confirmation of the submarine's sinking had been received. They believe the story should not be taken as positive.

According to Bruce's story the battle started about 5 a. m. and continued at a range of about 1,500 yards. Although the Campana's guns were outgunned by the two guns mounted on the submarine, the tanker put up a brave fight, firing all of its 160 shells. The submarine fired about 400 shots, but only two struck. When the Campana's ammunition supply became exhausted, the international signal of surrender was hoisted, but the submarine continued firing.

The U-boat's commander then approached a boat containing Bruce and the thirteen members of the gun crew.

Lemons Beautify! Make Quarter Pint of Lotion, Cheap

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white. This white, when mixed with a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no way gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms, and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any drugstore will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

Verdun Asks Help Of American City In Rehabilitation

PARIS, Aug. 23.—A deputation from the municipal council of Verdun called upon William G. Sharp, the American ambassador, yesterday, to suggest the possibility of some American city aiding Verdun in the reconstruction of the city hall, water works, schools and other ruined public properties.

The mayor read an address wherein he referred to the great kindness of the United States toward France and the liberality of some American cities in assisting ruined French cities.

Mr. Sharp in reply referred to the admiration of Americans for the heroic defense of Verdun and his intention to seek the best means of bringing the request of the city of Verdun to the attention of the United States.

It appeared during the conversation that only six civilians are now in Verdun. They are dressers and police.

There was room on the submarine for only six prisoners, so the captain and five of the gunners were selected.

Others Sent Adrift.

The submarine commander gave the remaining men the direction of the nearest port and set them adrift, warning them not to permit themselves to be rescued by two French vessels which were supposed to be in the vicinity and which the submarine commander said he was preparing to torpedo. About 6 o'clock that evening the men, adrift in the boat, were picked up by a French vessel and taken to a French port.

Word was received that a French cruiser had sunk a submarine in the vicinity of the attack on the Campana, and it is believed that all six of the captured Americans perished.

GERMAN RAIDER, SEE ADLER, THE MOEWE'S EX-PARTNER, SUNK BY BRITISH WARSHIP

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 23.—The German raider See Adler, which for a time roamed the seas in company with the famous raider Moeve, has been sunk in the Atlantic ocean, about 1,000 miles off this port, by a British warship, according to word brought here by a British steamer, which had aboard part of the crew of the German raider.

Part of the crew of the German vessel is said to have perished in the fight. The remaining members of the crew escaped from the sinking ship in lifeboats. The British warship summoned two British steamers that were in the vicinity and transferred to them the survivors, who were made prisoners of war.

The British vessel that arrived here remained two days, and then left for a British port to land her prisoners.

More than 100,000 Porto Ricans registered for the draft, and the drawing of the fateful numbers soon will take place. ## AUTO TO CARRY ARMY MESSAGE TO NEW YORK

A message from Gen. William A. Mann, chief of the Militia Bureau, to Adj. Gen. Louis W. Stouffer, of New York, will leave Washington today by automobile. It will be the second of a series of motor car trips by a private automobile. Mann is obtaining data relative to the transportation of troops by automobile in emergency.

The automobile, bearing a message from General Stouffer to General Mann, reached Washington Tuesday night. Through a New York official it was arranged with Walter E. Pland, president of the Maxwell Motor Company, for the War Department, to have the use of that company's cars for the tests. General Mann was well pleased with the results of the first trip.

BAKER TAKES CRUISE; BEATS DESK RECORD

Secretary of War Baker is back at his desk at the War Department today after a cruise down the Potomac on the naval yacht Sylph during which he says he did more work than he has been able to do on any one day at his office.

Secretary Baker took with him, General Scott and Sharpe, chief of staff and quartermaster general, respectively, and a corps of stenographers. They cruised as far as Norfolk and returned to Washington early today.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain milled coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two spoonfuls will make an abundance of lather, cleanse the scalp, and clean the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get milled coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

OFFICIALS CONCEAL WHEREABOUTS OF DR. BARTHELME

While officials at the Department of Justice today refused to disclose the whereabouts of Dr. George Barthelme, correspondent for the Cologne Gazette, they admitted that they knew where he is.

The correspondent, who was formerly editor of the Cologne Gazette, and whose dispatches from Washington have helped to shape the policy of that journal since the outbreak of the war, is said to have left Washington at the suggestion of the State Department. He was informed that his presence in Washington during the war was considered inadvisable. It is understood arrangements were made at the time of his departure from his apartment at 1882 Columbia road that he report to agents of the

YOUTH DENIES GUILT IN CUMBERLAND CASE

CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 23.—Although John Herbert Lish, held in the Garrett county jail for shooting his cousin, Miss Lena Friend, and George Sterling, denies his guilt, he has admitted to Sheriff Ashby that he was deeply in love with the girl and wanted to marry her.

When cross-questioned by the sheriff the youthful prisoner said he was jealous of Miss Friend, who had spurned his love, and did not feel any too kindly toward any man from whom she received attentions.

These statements by the prisoner, coupled with the finding of a shotgun and shells in his home, convince the authorities that Lish is the man who fired the shot which tore away part of Miss Friend's face and badly

MARYLAND MAY LOSE CAMP SOLDIER VOTE

Three regiments of the Maryland National Guard, aggregating more than 6,000 men, a large percentage of voting age, who have been ordered South, may affect by their votes the election of a new legislature this fall.

Col. Jerome Joyce, of Baltimore, in Washington today, believes that unless some provision is made for the soldiers to vote many of the local elections will be affected, and that the Republicans will suffer more than the Democrats.

Navy League Shut FROM PEARL HARBOR

HONOLULU, Aug. 23.—The commandant of the Pearl Harbor navy yard has notified George Robert Carter, formerly governor of Hawaii, and Mrs. Walter Dillingham, wife of a dry dock contractor, that they and other members of the Navy League will not be allowed to enter naval reservations.

At the same time the commandant gave notice that no seamen nor others of the naval establishment will be permitted to accept sweaters or any other kind of presents or aid from members of the Navy League.

Direct orders to that effect were received at the navy yard from Secretary Daniels, following his conference with Col. Robert M. Thompson, of New York, president of the league.

Physicians at the Western Maryland Hospital, where Miss Friend is a patient, said she is slowly improving, and unless complications develop, she has a chance to recover.
